CHAPTER XII.

THE BATTLE FOR PROHIBITION.

All the way back to Conrad his mind was at war. He knew deep down in his soul that he had no joy in the change he had planned to make. He knew well enough that his call to the ministry did not mean a ministry with the pen, but with the voice and in the personal, living, hand to hand touch with humanity.

He knew it when he said to Dorothy there by the ruins, "I will." He knew it as he penned the letter that even now he supposed had started on its eastward journey. He knew it as he felt the touch of the sorrowful mother's hand on his arm. And no reasoning or self-persuasion could convince him otherwise or satisfy him that he had made a decision that his conscience could approve.

The doctor had a patient at the lower end of the town near where they drove in on the way back, and Malcolm left him there and started to walk home. As he went up the main street past the saloons Carver came staggering out of one of them.

The sight of the minister seemed to sober the man a little. He muttered, "How do, Mr. Kirk?" and was shambling on, when he suddenly stopped, as if he had remembered something, and ran back to Kirk, who had gone sadly on, sick at heart at the sight of him.

"Something of yours, Mr. Kirk. Letter you gave me to keep. No trouble to keep it. Glad to do favor," Carver stammered, his drunken brain proud of his apparent service to the minister.

He pulled out the letter Kirk had given him and handed it over. Malcolm took it mechanically without a word. Carver stared at him, and as Kirk walked away he scratched his head and muttered:

"Something wrong with the minister evidently." He shook his head in perplexity and finally zigzagged into a saloon to see if he could clear up the mystery with a fresh drink.

Malcolm thrust the letter down into his pocket and walked on like one in a dream. He went by the postoffice without looking up. He met several of his parishioners and answered their good day absently. He was going over the struggle he had experienced when his baby died, only this was a new form of it. Now Dorothy was the person he was thinking of most. He was in the habit of making up his own mind quickly. If he ever did anything that his whole soul could not rejoice in, he felt suspicious of it; he felt suspicious of his whole motive now in leaving Conrad. And Philip Barton, was that soul laid on him to rescue? Was it true that he must assume the salvation of that particular individual and count him one of the lost souls he had really pledged himself to save? And this letter that had come back to him, was he to take the event as a leading of the Spirit and interpret it all to mean that he was not to send it, after all? But Dorothy, how could he ask her to lead the life of hardship she must lead if they remained in this Home Missionary field? After he had gone over all the ground for going or leaving he came back to that final question. And his mind was in a tumult.

He was within a block of the house now and still walking on absorbed, when some one touched his arm. He looked up and saw one of his church members, one of the poorest men in his congregation.

"How do you do, Mr. Kirk? Wife and I have been talking over what we could do toward helping on the new church parsonage, and we have concluded to give this as our share." The man handed to Kirk a $10 bill. "We're sorry it isn't ten times as much. Our crops failed, you know, along with the sickness and Jim's death last spring. But we want to do something in memory of the boy. His mother—" The man choked up and did not finish the sentence.

"That was a good sermon you gave us, Mr. Kirk, last Sunday. It did us a world of good. We're praying for you at our house. God bless your work among us."

The man was gone, and Malcolm stood there holding the money, and it was impossible for him to prevent his mind from trying to guess by what self-denial, hardship, sacrifice, that $10 had been saved. It was a little thing, but the meeting with his poor parishioner profoundly moved him.

He went on slowly and had almost reached the house when, as he turned a corner, he came face to face with the superintendent of his Sunday school. The superintendent was one of the leading temperance workers in Conrad. He had been especially active in the work carried on in the country districts. He was one of Malcolm's best friends, one of the comparatively few men with whom he often counseled and one whom he trusted entirely.

"I've just been to the house, Mr. Kirk, to see you. I won't take your

"You won't give him up, will you?" time now, but I called to tell you that I was out at the Parker district last night, and the men out there want you to come over tomorrow or next night if you can. They've never heard you. I'm sure you could do some real good work there. It's needed bad enough. The neighborhood is made up of young rascals who nearly all drink. If you can go, I can send word by one of the men who are driving out there this afternoon."

"Well, I'll go tomorrow," said Malcolm in a low voice.

"All right. Oh, by the way, Mr. Kirk—the superintendent had started on, but he turned around and came back a step—it may encourage you a little to hear what I overheard in front of Valmer's place the other day. Valmer was out in front of his saloon, and he said to one of his customers: 'I don't care for all the other prohibition cranks in Conrad except that preacher Kirk. He has a way of getting his church members to believe as he does, and if they begin to vote that way—I didn't hear any more, but that bit of a speech ought to be encouraging. We will never give up this fight, will we, Mr. Kirk?'"

"No; we will never give it up," replied Malcolm with the same feeling at heart that he had when he said to Mrs. Barton, "I will never give him [Philip] up."

He walked slowly, and Dorothy knew the moment he entered the room that something unusual had happened. Malcolm could never conceal his emotions.

He took out the letter that Carver had given back to him and held it out to Dorothy.

"It has not been mailed. I doubt if it ever ought to be," he said simply, but his face was pale, and his lip quivered under his intense excitement, for he was stirred deeply by the events of the day.

"What does it mean?" Dorothy asked as she took the letter, looking at Malcolm and letting the letter fall from her hand upon the table near which she had been sitting.

"It means—I think—yes, I am sure it means that I must stay here. Neither my heart nor my mind has any real joy in the thought of leaving my work here. Dorothy, I cannot leave without seeming to myself, to my church, to the citizens, to all my friends here, to be guilty of running away from my duty because of hardship. I cannot persuade myself that the Lord wants me to preach with my pen. I know as well as if he spoke to me with an audible voice that he wants me to speak to living men in close contact with them, to bear their burdens near by, to be one of the multitude in the struggle for a better world. Especially I do not dare to silence the conviction within me that I ought to stay by the temperance fight in Kansas just now. The Lord has seen fit to use me to his glory in this great crisis for the cause of home and native land. Dorothy, if I were only rich! If I only had the means to give you what you ought to have!"

The last two sentences were suddenly wrung from him as he sat there watching Dorothy, who had listened in silence, her hands clasped in her lap and her face, Malcolm fancied, cold and hard.

For the first and last time in his life he was deceived in Dorothy.

She suddenly lifted her head and smiled, while her eyes filled with tears.

"Do you think, do you think, Malcolm, that I could ever be proud of you again, ever feel satisfied if you acted a part that was not true to your convictions? Do you think I married you for your money?"

"I always knew you never married me for my good looks," replied Malcolm, with a smile that revealed inward joy, "and you certainly did not marry me for my money, for I told you at the time that I hadn't any. But, oh, Dorothy, you know how I long to do and be everything to you, don't you?"

"Yes, I know it very well," Dorothy answered. She had come over to her husband and the anxious look on his face had given way to one of relief.

She had the letter to the Boston editor in her hand. Malcolm took it from her.

"If we are not going to mail this, what do you think we ought to do with it?" he asked, looking at the stove significantly.

"Save the stamp, Malcolm," said Dorothy. "You may need it if we are not going to live in Boston."

He tore off the corner of the envelope where the stamp was and opened the stove door and threw the letter into the fire.

"So that settles it," said Malcolm gravely. There was a pause in the little room. "I feel better," he added, looking steadily at his wife.

"Do you?" said Dorothy gently. She kissed him, and they both seemed to remember their promise made in the little church. Dorothy knew well enough that for a man like Malcolm to do anything that in the smallest degree contradicted his convictions meant for him continual torture of mind. The minute she saw that his action in leaving Conrad meant that sort of moral conflict she knew there was only one course open to them, and that was to stay in Conrad and battle out the life that duty called them to live there.

In all this nothing but the great and tranquil love they felt for each other made possible such a complete and unquestioning change of plans that affected their whole future. Malcolm would not have been the man he was if he had not felt constrained to stay in Conrad. Dorothy would not have been the woman she was if, once seeing that her husband's moral strength depended on this decision, she had attempted to argue him out of it or had failed to accept the situation cheerfully and once for all.

AT THE BIG STORE.

This Man's Perseverance Was Very Ill
Rewarded.

"Where are your razor straps?" asked the customer.

"Razor straps?" said the floorwalker, stroking his side whiskers. "Fifth aisle to the right."

The customer went to the fifth aisle to the right.

"Razor straps?" he asked.

"Razor straps?" the girl behind the counter said. "I think they must be in the notion department."

"Where is the notion department?"

"Next section, three aisles back."

The customer hunted up the notion department.

"Razor straps—straps?" he said.

"You'll find them among the household goods in the basement," responded the girl in charge of the hairpin subdepartment.

He went to the basement.

"Where are your razor str-straps?" he inquired of the first salesman he met.

"Last counter on the right."

He went to the last counter on the right.

"I'd like to see some of your razor straps."

"I think you'll find those in the notion department on the first floor."

"Been there. They sent me down here."

"Nearest we can come to it is dog collars. Suppose you try the razor department."

"Where is that?"

"First floor."

The customer hadn't thought of the razor department. He went back to the floor above and appeared a few moments later at a counter presided over by a girl with large bangs and a lip.

"Got any razor straps?" he demanded.

He was becoming reckless now.

"Razor straps? No, sir. You'll find 'em in the leather goods department on the thirteenth floor."

He took passage in the elevator for the sixth floor.

"Where's your blamed razor straps?" he inquired of the sixth floor walker.

"Eight aisles over—leather goods department."

The weary pilgrim traversed the eight aisles.

"I want to see your razor straps," he said with some fierceness.

"We don't keep 'em," replied the man behind the counter. — Chicago Tribune.

The Show at Esquimalt.

The naval officer at the coast has been instructed to turn Esquimalt over to the Canadian Government as soon as we are ready to take it over. At the rate the Parliament is arranging the naval estimates Esquimalt will be quite a lot older before we run the show there. — Calgary Herald.

Query.

Now that Great Britain has told Canada what it does want in the way of naval assistance, is Canada going to waste money in furnishing what Great Britain does not want, and what will be of no use either to the Mother Country or to Canada? — Ottawa Citizen.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson IV.—First Quarter, For
Jan. 23, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. v. 1-16.
Memory Verses, 2-9—Golden Text,
Matt. v. 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This so called "Sermon on the Mount" in which we are to have six consecutive lessons, might be entitled "The Laws of the Kingdom" and is followed in chapters viii and ix by some features of the kingdom in the way of various healings, for when the kingdom comes "the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick" (Isa. xxxiii. 24). The first four chapters of this gospel might be entitled the genealogy of the King, the birth of the King, the herald of the King and the victory of the King over the god of this world. The precepts of these chapters shall be fully lived out in the kingdom when it is set up on this earth and should be manifest now in those who by His precious blood have become joint heirs with the King. Although the multitudes were near Him, it is evident from verses 1 and 2 that He spoke these words to His disciples and not to the multitude. Compare Luke vi. 20, but do not confuse these two sermons. In the one He went up into a mountain and sat down and taught, but in the other He came down from a mountain and stood in the plain. The two discourses are in many respects the same as to the teaching, but they were spoken at different times, under different circumstances, and yet in both cases to His disciples. What folly for an unsaved person to say, "The Sermon on the Mount is my motto." If the Ten Commandments written on tables of stone with the finger of God are a ministration of death (II Cor. iii. 7, 9), what about these same commands as explained by our Lord in this discourse, in which He says that a sinful look is as much the breaking of the command as a sinful act? The law was not given till the people were redeemed by blood from the land of bondage, and God never sets His law before an unsaved person but to condemn him, that as a lost one he may receive Jesus Christ, who is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth (Rom. x. 4). Such only are the truly "blessed" according to Ps. xxxii. 1, 2; Rom. iv. 6-8. Then we have seven characteristics of these blessed or happy people which correspond with the seven petitions in the prayer of chapter vi. 9-13. The prayer begins "Our Father," and only redeemed people can say truly these words. All others come under the head of John viii. 44. Only the poor in spirit can say from the heart, "Hallowed be Thy name," for others prefer to exalt their own name. We pray, "Thy kingdom come," but we mourn because of the curse which rests on all the earth till the kingdom comes. The meek who desire in no sense their own will can truly long for the time when His will shall be done on earth as in heaven. Then shall the mourners be comforted, as they inherit the earth, which shall then have become the kingdom of heaven. Daily bread is made sure to all who hunger and thirst after righteousness (Matt. vi. 33), and they shall be satisfied with the fatness of His house in all things, both temporal and spiritual. Having been forgiven much, they freely forgive others and have become merciful indeed. Having seen something of God and desiring to see more of Him and to know Him better, they fear all temptation to evil and earnestly desire to be kept pure in heart. Knowing that the evil one is the great peace breaker, they pray to be delivered from him that they may enjoy the peace of God and carry His peace everywhere they go. Rejoicing in the kingdom and power and glory which are His, and theirs, too, as the children of God, they expect to be treated as He was—persecuted, reviled, spoken against falsely, things laid to their charge that they know not, but by His grace they count themselves happy to be privileged to suffer for His sake and rejoice that when His glory shall be revealed they shall be glad with exceeding joy (I Pet. iv. 13).

The church as the salt of the earth preserves it from the judgments which will surely come upon it (when the church has been taken away) to prepare it for the kingdom, but the professing church has well nigh lost its savor and seems like Rev. iii. 16. Who can tell how many cities, towns and families are preserved from calamity for the sake of the godly who are therein? May we be godly enough to make the devil bite us, the truly godly whom the Lord sets apart for Himself (II Tim. iii. 12; Ps. iv. 3). Note that salt had to be offered with every offering (Lev. ii. 13), and see our Lord's words concerning salt in Mark ix. 49, 50. We can only be salt in any sense as Christ dwelleth in us.

Christ is the light of the world (John viii. 12; ix. 5; xii. 46), and we can only

A Little Cold.

He caught a little cold—
That was all.
So the neighbors sadly said,
As they gathered round his bed,
When they heard that he was dead
He caught a little cold—
That was all. — (Puck.)

Neglect of a cough or cold often leads to serious trouble. To break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable, mix two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine Compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whiskey. Take a teaspoonful every four hours. You can buy these at any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle.

be light to any one as we behold Him and reflect His light, and herein the moon, a faithful witness in heaven, is a good illustration. The light must first shine in our hearts, and it is the entrance of His word that giveth light (II Cor. iv. 6; Ps. cxix. 130). Then the light must shine in the house or home, then before men more generally and then into all the world that God may be glorified. The believer who does not shine can only be a painted light, an imitation, to whom the Lord will some day say, "I never knew you." See chapter vii. 21-23.

COMES PROOF OF ANOTHER WON-DERFUL CURE BY DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS.

Mark Southern Tells How They Raised Him From a Bed of Sickness, Cured His Kidney Disease and Made Him a Well Man.

Skipton, Duck Lake, Sask.

(Special).—After thirteen years suffering from Kidney Disease brought on by an accident, Mark Southern, of Heslaker Farm near here, is a well man, and he is not slow to state that he owes his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"It began with pains in my back," Mr. Southern says, "and across my loins, and of late years I became very weak and for days I had to keep to my bed. I had all kinds of advice and tried a great many medicines, but all to no purpose.

"Reading an advertisement induced me to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial, and I wrote for six boxes. After taking the first box I began to feel relief, and after using five boxes I felt quite well again. I am now able to get about my work and feel no effects whatever from the old complaint."

Dodd's Kidney Pills clean all Kidney Diseases and all diseases resulting from disordered Kidneys right out of the system. That's how they cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism and Backache. They do it by putting the Kidneys in good working order and they always do it.

A book can't butt in among the six best sellers on the strength of its ornamental cover.

LA GRIPPE

Arrested, and Consumption Cured

Mr. G. D. Colwell, of Walkerville, Ont., was stricken down with La Grippe in 1906 and it left him in very bad condition. He says: "I was all run down and bordering on Consumption. I could not sleep at nights, had awful sweats, and coughed nearly the whole time. This is how I was when I began to take Psychine, in a low nervous state; but from the first bottle I began to improve. It did marvels for me and brought me back to health in no time, making a new man of me. It fortifies the body against the attacks of La Grippe and is a sure preventive. I always take Psychine if I feel a cold coming on and it puts me right in no time."

"This custom of having two telephones in the office has its disadvantages, too," said the business man. "We've got a new office boy, and one of his duties is to answer the telephone. The other day he heard the bell ring, and coming to me, said—'You're wanted at the phone by a lady.' 'Which one?' I enquired, thinking of the 'phones, of course. A Sure Corrective of Flatulency.—When the undigested food lies in the stomach it throws off gases causing pains and oppression in the stomachic region. The belching or eructation of these gases is offensive and the only way to prevent them is to restore the stomach to proper action. Parnelee's Vegetable Pills will do this. Simple directions go with each packet and a course of them taken systematically is certain to effect a cure.

A well known Brooklyn physician was examining a class of nurses, who had served their appointed time in the hospital. The candidates filed past him, and to each he addressed a question calculated to show the nurse's efficiency. In one of the questions he described the condition of a patient, and asked the nurse how much morphine, in her opinion, should be administered to the sufferer. "Eight grains," promptly replied the nurse.

The doctor made no comment, and she passed on. When her turn came again she appeared greatly confused, and said to the examiner, "Doctor, I wish to correct the answer I made last time. I meant to say that one-eighth of a grain should be given to the patient."

"Too late," remarked the doctor, without looking up from his question paper. "The man's dead."

Ruin the Rug or Be Late

A theatre party waited half an hour the other evening for one belated individual, who arrived breathless and profusely apologetic. Apologies entailed explanations, and explanations revealed some of the exigencies, as well as the humor, of New York bachelor makeshifts.

In this case the gentleman who was tardy found it imperative to economize space. Necessity made his opera hat share a closet shelf with the tarragon vinegar and the olive oil used at occasional evening spreads. One could multiply proverbs in telling the tale, for in his haste to be on time the vinegar and the oil came down unexpectedly with the opera hat, and deposited their contents upon his latest acquisition, the Shervan rug he had just treated himself to.

The Foe of Indigestion.—Indigestion is a common ailment and few are free from it. It is a most distressing complaint and often the suffering attending it is most severe. The very best remedy is Parnelee's Vegetable Pills taken according to directions. They rectify the irregular action of the stomach and restore healthy action. For many years they have been the standard remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion and are highly esteemed for their qualities.

Belle—But do you think you and he are suited to each other?

Nell—Oh, perfectly! Our tastes are quite similar. I don't care much for him, and he doesn't care much for me. —Figaro.

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

It was ruin the rug or be late to the party; so, up came the rug, on went the water in the bathtub, and to scrubbing fell he. The rug was saved, and the theatre party enjoyed the laugh they had over the tale.

CHILDHOOD INDIGESTION MEANS SICKLY BABIES

The baby who suffers from indigestion is simply starving to death. If it takes food it does the child no good, and it is cross, restless and sleepless, and the mother is worn out caring for it. Baby's Own Tablets always cure indigestion, and give the little one healthy, natural sleep. Mrs. A. P. Daigle, Lower Sabin, N. B., says:—"For severe cases of indigestion I think Baby's Own Tablets are worth their weight in gold. My little one suffered terribly from this trouble and the Tablets was the only thing that removed the trouble." Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

A noted German lyric soprano, who may as well be nameless here, as she is no longer before the public, developed in her later years a habit of singing out of tune. One night at a small company being asked to sing, she promptly consented, and her hostess then went to Otto Lessmann, the German critic, who was present, and said:

"Herr Lessmann, will you accompany Madame Blank?"

"With pleasure Where is she going?"

"Why, to sing."

"No, pardon me, not there."

A RUSH OF BUSINESS.

It Came Just at the Time He Wanted to Sell His Place.

One of the leading men of Louisville, reported to be one of the richest, got a bad start in business. He began by being a photographer, but found that the business didn't come up to expectations. He therefore wisely decided to sell out and start at something else. He finally interested some people in the proposition and appointed a time when they should come and look things over.

He now has the reputation of being shrewd, and that this is not a complimentary designation only is indicated by what happened then. He inserted an advertisement in the daily papers in small enough type not to attract everybody's attention and yet conspicuously enough to win consideration from those who make a point of looking for bargains, announcing that on a certain day he would take pictures free of charge. By a coincidence the day he set was the day when the prospective purchasers of his business were to be there.

The ad., as usual, paid, and that afternoon his gallery was crowded with visitors. They thronged in and out, and he could not take care of them rapidly enough, even with the aid of several assistants. When the folks he intended to do business with came he greeted them with a crown of disappointment, explaining that he was simply too busy that he couldn't see them then and asked them to come back in the morning, when things would likely have slackened up. They agreed and went away duly impressed.

He sold out to them next day, and it is perhaps superfluous to add that he got more for his outfit than he would have done if it hadn't been for the modest little advertisement.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HOW INSECTS BREATHE.

System of Tubes That Run the Length of Their Bodies.

Landlubber animals have lungs, and sea creatures have gills. But insects have neither one nor the other. They have a complex system of tubes running throughout the whole length of the body by means of which air is conveyed to every part of the system. As they are destined to contain nothing but air, they are strongly supported to guard against collapse from pressure.

This support is furnished by means of a fine thread running spirally within the walls of the tube, much in the same way that a garden hose is protected with wire. There are generally two of these tubes which run the whole length of the insect's body.

Many flies, as larvae, live in the water. Arranged along each side of their bodies is a series of exceedingly thin plates, into each of which runs a series of blood vessels. These plates act and absorb the oxygen contained in the water. The tail ends in three feather-like projections. By means of these the larva causes currents of water to flow over the gills, and thus their efficiency is increased.

The goat also lives in the water as a larva. But it has no gills; therefore it cannot breathe the oxygen in the water, but must breathe air. This is done by means of a spiracle situated at the tip of its tail. Indeed, the tail is prolonged into a little tube. The larva floats along head downward in the water with this tube just above the surface to enable it to breathe. After some time it is provided with two little tubes, which act in the same manner.—Chicago Tribune.

Breaking Them to the Yoke.

Edward Lisle, whose "Observations on Husbandry" was published in 1757, described the method employed by his "oxhind" or cattleman to break cattle to the yoke: "He yoked two of the steers, being two yearlings, together and so suffered them to walk about the ground where there were no pits or ditches for them to receive hurt by. He also tied together the bushy parts of their tails, the reason of which was because they should not be able to turn their heads to each other so as to strike one another with their horns or by bending their necks too much by endeavoring to face one another and then striving break their necks." In this condition the oxhind let them go on the ground, if without holes or ditches, all night or else turned them into an empty open barn so yoked and thus treated them two or three times before he worked them.

An Artistic Prince.

The young Duke of Saxe-Cobourg, who lately passed his five-and-twentieth birthday, is stated to be the only English public school boy who has become a reigning prince. His lamented father, Prince Leopold, possessed a great predilection for music and the arts—a taste that has been transmitted to the son, who also inherits from his mother a cheerful and amiable disposition, which even his strict training as a German officer has not been able to quell. His only sister, Princess Alexandra of Teck, has much in common with him, and his uncle, the late Duke of Edinburgh, who preceded him in the Dukedom of Saxe-Cobourg, was also a very clever and very enthusiastic musician.

THE MARIENBAD WORLD.

When you are at Marienbad the first sound you hear is tap, tap, tap, at your bedroom door.

"Half past 5! Time to get up!"
"All right!" you growl in reply, railing while you slowly get out of bed against the absurd tyranny of medicinal waters that insist on being taken so early in the day.

Salting forth, you find the Marienbad world already astir. Water drinkers are converging from all sides to the spring. Each one on arrival provides himself with a glass and goes forward to receive his daily dose. You join the waiting file. Soon it is your turn, and the attendant maiden for a modest coin fills you a bumper. You take it aside and eye it keenly, holding it to the light. Then, surreptitiously sniffing, you taste it cautiously. The flavor, it appears, is not unpleasant. You are reassured, and, assuming a resigned air, you drain the glass.

Elated by this proof of your courage, you walk out. The band is playing, the promenade crowded. Here you may see the crowned heads, millionaires, great singers and all the other celebrities who frequent Marienbad.

There is a peculiarity of the place that will quickly strike you—the stoutness of many of the visitors. As the Baron von Seidelitz, himself a man of girth, remarked to an English friend, "There are many thick people in Marienbad."

Hunger by this time probably possesses you, for it is 8 o'clock, but do not expect a hearty breakfast. Crisp rolls or toast and fragrant coffee will be enough, served in the open air. To a favored few an egg or a small plate of cold meat is permitted.

Curious morning tasks are prescribed for some of the patients. Mr. X., for instance, is ordered a piping hot mud bath, while Mr. Z. follows the "terrain" cure. This consists in walking an increased distance each day, so as gradually to strengthen the organs of which the functions are impaired. Most people, however, spend their time in reading, writing or lounging.

The welcome call to dinner draws all together about 1 o'clock. Again the fare is simple, the motto being, "Nothing very sour, nothing very sweet, nothing very salt, nothing very fat." Even the restaurants are not allowed to provide dishes harmful to the "cure." So you make yourself content with fish, roast meat or chicken, green vegetables and stewed fruit, and, as for drink, water, diluted claret or Pilsener beer must suffice. Woe to him whose choice strays to made dishes, pastry, cheese or spirits, for these he must abjure as long as he stays at Marienbad.

To rest awhile without taking "forty winks" is the patient's next problem, and when he has worked through it he will probably stroll along to a concert or make an excursion among the delightful pine clad hills that inclose the Marienbad valley.

When evening approaches the gardens and promenade fill with people. They sit about at small tables and sip their coffee while listening to the band.

Your last meal is a light supper at 7 o'clock, and by 9 you should be in bed.

The normal length of the "cure" is four weeks. It is said, however, that Americans, with characteristic energy, have been known to compress it into something like half that time.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Can't Be Cut Off With a Shilling.

French parents (or, at all events, those with more than 2 shillings to dispose of by will) are precluded from the gratification of cutting a muttonous child off with a shilling. A reserve is established by law which no testator can bequeath away from his offspring. A Frenchman with one child can dispose of half his property according to his pleasure; the other half must inevitably pass to the child. Those with two children can dispose of only one-third of their property, those with three children of one-fourth, and so on according to the size of the family. Stern parents occasionally seek to evade the law by subterfuge, but the disposal of property in France is hedged round with so many restrictions that family black sheep are rarely mulcted of their legal inheritance.—London Mail.

Not the Same.

The new minister was making a duty call at the home of one of his flock, and, taking a little six-year-old miss upon his knee, he said, "Now, my dear, you want to be a Christian, like mamma, don't you?"

"No, Mr.," was the unexpected reply. "I would rather sing in the choir."—Chicago News.

Should Die For Her.

Yet Zam-Buk Cured Him

Mr. A. M. Brooks, of Wellington St., Steeltown, says:

"Ten months ago I contracted eczema, which at first appeared on my neck, later spreading to my chest and body. The doctor thought this was caused by the irritation of my shirt collar and the poison and steam from the pulp, as I was then employed at the Pulp Mill. I began doctoring, but instead of the disease being checked it showed signs of becoming worse; and my neck, chest, and my whole body was soon in a frightful condition. The skin actually peeled off, leaving the flesh raw.

"I suffered cruelly from the terrible itching and soreness, and was completely confined to the house. Not seeing or feeling any improvement, I next resorted to the ordinary salves and ointments recommended for skin diseases, but although I gave each preparation a fair trial, none seemed powerful enough to bring about a cure until I began using Zam-Buk.

"From the first application of Zam-Buk I had some relief, and as I persevered with its use daily the soreness was by degrees drawn out and the intense itching and aching completely vanished. Scabs or scales formed over the raw flesh, but Zam-Buk soon cleared away all these, and although the cure was naturally gradual, it was complete."

If you suffer from any skin disease don't make the above mistake, and try all sorts of things before Zam-Buk. Get Zam-Buk first! Eczema, ulcers, abscesses, poisoned wounds, cuts, cold sores, scalp sores, face eruptions, chancres, red, rough patches—all are healed and cured by Zam-Buk. Best balm for babies' rashes. All druggists and stores at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

The thing that makes a man maddest with his wife is for his collar button to roll under the bureau when she is away from home, so he has to find it for himself.

ITEM WELCOMED BY MANY MEN

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardomene), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

They Just Laughed.

A certain man quitted his native village many years ago and settled in London. He became an M.P., and being curious, to know what his former companions thought of him, he rashly ventured on a visit to his birth-place. Entering the local public house he questioned the company as to whether they remembered Mr. —.

They nodded. Then rushing on his fate, he inquired: "And what did you say when you read in the papers that he had got into parliament?" "Us didn't say naught," answered the old laborer who was very busy with his tankard—"us just laughed."

Willing to Oblige

An Irish politician was addressing a crowd in a frenzied speech. Several of his assertions, considered in cold blood, contradicted each other, and a member of the audience turned to his neighbor and said: "This man reminds me of the Irish leader who was cheering his men on in battle." "Min," he says, "we are on the verge of battle, and I want to ask ye before ye start, Will ye fight or will ye run?" "We will," says they. "Which will ye do," says he. "We will not," says they. "Aha! thank ye, me min!" says he. "I thought ye wud."

A teacher in the primary grade of a Newark school was instructing her class in the composition of sentences. After a talk of several minutes, she wrote two sentences on the blackboard, one grammatically wrong, the other a mis-statement of facts. The sentences were:

"The hen has three legs. Who done it?"

"Willie," she said, "go to the blackboard and show where the fault lies in these two sentences."

Willie did so. To her astonishment, he wrote:

"The hen never done it; God done it."

ECZEMA CURED THROUGH THE BLOOD

By the Aid of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—That Wonderful Tonic Medicine.

Eczema or salt rheum is a disease of the skin which shows itself in small, red, watery blisters—these blisters break and leave a scale which may be rubbed off by the hand. The affected parts are intensely itchy and the victim cannot bear the touch of any article of clothing over the parts.

The disease is caused by bad blood and must be cured through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many cases of eczema simply because they are the one medicine that acts wholly on the blood—the seat of the trouble. Among those cured by these Pills is Mrs. Chas. Davidson, of Amherst, N. S., who says:—"I suffered greatly from salt rheum or eczema and my hands were badly cracked. I tried several ointments but they did me no good whatever. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and had only used them for a few weeks when the trouble disappeared and my hands were entirely healed. I am very grateful for what the Pills have done for me and would advise other sufferers from this trouble to try them."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Mrs. Davidson they have done for many others—not only in cases of eczema and salt rheum but for eruptions and pimples, chronic erysipelas, scrofula and all other maladies which arise from poor blood. They banish these troubles simply because they clear the blood of all impurities and leave it rich, red and health-giving. The Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Try it and be convinced of its efficacy.

Substitute for the Hat Pin

An English woman has invented a substitute for hat pins which may prove to be a boon for women. The device consists of an elastic bandeau of very fine steel, covered with velvet, which is placed inside the hat or bonnet. It is very light and when fixed to the crown, this being done by a few stitches, it makes any hat or bonnet fit quite closely and comfortably on the head. It is claimed that the long hat pins so much in use are not only dangerous but that they will ruin any fine hat in the course of time.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Cook's Night Out.

"Excuse me, mum," said the fashionable lady's new Irish cook, "but would you mind, now, if I had this address printed on me card—"
"Why, not at all, Bridget," replied the fashionable mistress. "Of course, it is unusual, but this is your new home now, and if you have a card it is perfectly proper for you to put your address on it." "Thank ye, mum," said Erin's brawny daughter. "An' I noticed ye had printed on yer cards, mum, 'At home on Thursdays.' Would it be proper for me to have printed on mine, 'Tuesdays off.'"

After Spending Thousands of Dollars and Consulting the Most Eminent Physicians, He Was Desperate.

CHICAGO, ILLS.—Mr. J. G. Becker, of 134 Van Buren St., a well-known wholesale dry goods dealer, states as follows:

"I have had catarrh for more than thirty years. Have tried everything on earth and spent thousands of dollars for other medicines and with physicians, without getting any lasting relief, and can say to you that I have found Peruna the only remedy that has cured me permanently.

"Peruna has also cured my wife of catarrh. She always keeps it in the house for an attack of cold, which it invariably cures in a very short time."

SANATIVE ANTISEPTIC SHAVING

Not only is Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, unrivalled for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin and hair, but it is a luxury for shampooing, bathing and especially for shaving. It possesses in modified form the medicinal, emollient, sanative and antiseptic properties of Cuticura Ointment, while supplying a firm, moist, non-drying, creamy and fragrant lather. After shaving, and before bathing the face, gently anoint the shaved parts with a bit of Cuticura Ointment. This method renders frequent shaving a pleasure and commends itself to men with tender, easily irritated skins, and as a preventive of irritation and inflammation of the hair glands which, if neglected, often lead to obstinate and disfiguring eruptions.

TO PROTECT SETTLERS

LEGISLATION THAT WILL BENEFIT THE HOMESTEADER

J. G. Turriff Introduces a Bill Providing that Worthless Homesteads May be Relinquished—Under Present Law the Settler May not Abandon a Homestead to Acquire a More Desirable One.

Ottawa.—Mr. J. G. Turriff has introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Lands act, which received its first reading. The object of the bill is to provide in the case of a person who is entitled to a purchased homestead and who makes entry for one, but who, either through some fault of his own or through some misfortune, has entered for a piece of land which is absolutely worthless.

Under the act at present it is impossible for a person to abandon a worthless piece of land and get another quarter section, and he not only forfeits his entry fee, but also the $160 which he has paid on account of the principal.

The amendment proposes that within six months a man may have the opportunity of going to the land office, abandoning his worthless quarter section, substituting another in its place, and get credit for the amount of money paid on account of the principal on the first section.

A return tabled in the house of commons at the request of Mr. Monk, shows that the naval defence programme is $5,470, including $2,524 for salaries and $1,719 for travelling expenses. Four experts and technical officers have already been engaged. Their names and salaries are: Rear Admiral Kingsmill, $3,150; Commander W. D. D. Stewart, technical adviser, $3,500; Lieut. R. M. T. Stephens, gunnery expert, $2,500; Staff Paymaster P. J. Linev, adviser of matters connected with stores, $2,500. The last three officers have been lent to Canada by the admiralty for a period of two years.

New Provinces are British to the Core

Regina.—Speaking before the Canadian Club here, P. J. Nolan, K.C., of Calgary, ridiculed the suggestion of R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, made recently in the east in an interview, to the effect that the day might come when Alberta and Saskatchewan would secede from the empire. Mr. Bennett would not dare, said Mr. Nolan, to utter such sentiments at home. They could only be accounted for by the company Mr. Bennett kept. The new provinces were British and would remain British, and Americans coming to settle in them had better understand that fact right away.

Discover Soda Lake

London.—Fred Shelford, an engineer of the projected African railroad from Uganda to Lake Magadi, tells of a wonderful soda lake, which he discovered after a most difficult journey over a waterless country. Shelford says: "Lake Magadi is picturesquely situated between vast mountains. We found the water a few inches deep, covering a hard surface looking like a hard marble. This is an immense deposit of soda, which, when bored, was found to extend to a considerable depth, indicating an area of at least twenty square miles of solid soda."

C. P. R. Scheme Attracts Attention

London.—The Canadian Pacific railway company's scheme of ready-made farms for British settlers east of Calgary was expounded by C. W. Peterson at the Royal Colonial Institute. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who presided, in response to a question, said women settlers would be welcome. The emigration of 100,000 English would not deplete the agricultural population as their places would soon be taken. The C. P. R. scheme is attracting great interest here.

Big Buffalo Head Brings Fancy Price

Edmonton.—A magnificent specimen of a buffalo head pronounced to be one of the finest yet secured in Canada, is now at the taxidermist's. The head is that of the buffalo killed last week at Elk Park, Lamont, by Ed. Carey, owing to its having broken a hip. The animal was fourteen years old and weighed a 1,400 pounds. The head was purchased from Howard Douglas, superintendent of national parks, by Richard Secord, of this city, for $350.

Halley's Comet Visible

Vancouver.—For the first time on the Pacific coast, Halley's comet has been discovered on its present approach to the earth. Mr. C. S. H. Sherman, of the local meteorological bureau, observed the heavenly visitor through a seven inch telescope. The comet a very faint, but the expert is positive that it is the much discussed Halley's comet. It is, of course, not visible to the naked eye. He observed it in the southwestern heavens.

Publicity Campaign for the Province

Edmonton.—Premier Rutherford expects to announce shortly the details of a publicity campaign, in which probably $25,000 will be spent. It is understood that publicity offices may be maintained in Toronto and other cities.

Bonus on Army Immigrants

Toronto.—The colonization department of Ontario of the Salvat on Army have come to an arrangement for bringing out domestics by which a bonus of $5 each will be paid for all over one hundred that come over in charge of the Army.

TO THE OCEAN BY NEW ROUTE

The City of Edmonton is Preparing To Have Its Rights Protected

Edmonton.—A huge enterprise, that of establishment of communication between Edmonton and the Great Lakes via the Saskatchewan river, Lake Winnipeg, the Red river and a canal connecting the Red river with the Lake of the Woods, and with Lake Superior, is planned by a corporation of Winnipeg and eastern capitalists, and in which several Edmonton gentlemen are understood to be interested.

The company is asking for incorporation at the present session of the house of commons in Ottawa. The right is also being applied for by the company to develop power on the Saskatchewan river, and along any of the streams and rivers to navigate. The bill, should it be passed, will, it is understood, give the company control of navigation on the waterways mentioned.

The project has often been mooted, but this is the first company which has ever been organized to carry out the project. Hon. William Pugsley, minister of public works for the Dominion, gave it as his opinion that the scheme would be quite feasible.

Will this project interfere with the free navigation of the Saskatchewan river, in the vicinity of Edmonton. This was the question asked at the board of trade the other day at its regular meeting by J. L. Cote, M.P.P. for Athabasca.

The board will petition the Dominion government to protect the interests of the river in this respect. As pointed out by Mr. Cote, the river is and will be used in future, for transportation of coal from up stream, and for other purposes of navigation equally important to the residents of the city and district. It was his opinion that the rights of these residents be protected against a corporation that, he believed, would tie up navigation, to proceed under the terms of their present bill.

Lumsden Charges Come Up

Ottawa.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier gives notice that he will move that a special committee of five members of the house be named to inquire into the charges affecting the engineering staff of the National Transcontinental railway. Sir Wilfrid bases his motion on the statement made by Hugh D. Lumsden, late chief engineer of N. T. R. who in a letter addressed to the commissioners resigning his position used the following language:

"In view of the general disregard of my instructions, and having lost confidence in the engineering staff, I have concluded to resign my position as chief engineer," and also on Mr. Lumsden's subsequent letter modifying his statement and making it apply to the engineers on district B, and district F, only.

The motion states that while it is not deemed advisable to take any action which might prejudice the position of either of the parties to arbitration proceedings now in progress yet the allegations involve such grave charges against a portion of the engineering staff as to make it desirable that they should be investigated.

Dr. Nealey, of Humboldt, gives notice of the following motion: "That in the opinion of this house it is desirable in the interest of the western grain trade that railways operating in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta be required to furnish storage facilities, for grain, the necessity for such facilities at any point and the cost of storage to be determined by the board of railway commissioners."

Farms Which Are Worn Out

Ithaca, N.Y.—President W. C. Brown, of the New York Central railway, who was the orator at the Founder's Day exercises at Cornell recently, said he is going to ask President Jacob Gould Schurman, to furnish men among the Cornell graduates to direct the work of developing the abandoned and worn out farms in this state, which the railroad company is buying.

"The movement is not philanthropic," said President Brown. "It is one of self-preservation, as soon as we have sufficiently proved one farm we shall sell it and take another in another county."

Land Surveyors to be Incorporated

Edmonton.—The Dominion land surveyors residing in the province, are making arrangements to seek incorporation at the coming session of the legislature. Their object as announced is not to form a close corporation, but rather to improve the standard of the profession in the province and with this end in view the proposed board of examiners will be placed under the control of the senate of the University of Alberta. It is expected that the membership of the association next summer will be about fifty, including the Dominion land surveyors who temporarily work in Alberta during the summer months.

Price of Shoes May Be Raised

Boston.—The interest of the shoe and leather trade in the United States was fixed in this city the other day when more than 200 men, representative of the entire scope of the industry gathered here to discuss and act upon questions of vital interest to the trade. The convention was held under the auspices of the national shoe wholesalers' association. Its underlying purpose was to consider whether the trade was really confronted with a radical advance in leather and shoe prices and whether the buying public will demand shoes at a fixed price or shoes of an established quality at the market price.

LARGER FORCE NEEDED

STRENGTH OF R.N.W.M.P. SHOULD BE INCREASED

Commissioner Perry says it Will Have to be Doubled to Meet the Growing Needs—Some Interesting Statistics Regarding the Work Being Performed by the Guardians of the Prairies, in Annual Report Just Issued.

Ottawa.—The annual Royal Northwest Mounted Police report just issued states that on Sept. 30 last the strength of the force stood as follows: Fifty-one officers, 600 non-commissioned officers and constables and 558 horses. Compared with last year this is a gain of 2 constables and 45 horses. There are 51 men in Alberta, 306 in Saskatchewan, 31 in the Northwest Territory and 74 in the Yukon.

Commissioner Perry points out that every officer commanding a district finds much difficulty in meeting the legitimate requirements of his district with the strength at his disposal. The villages, railway stations and isolated settlements are increasing so rapidly that the strength of the force will have to be doubled to meet all the demands made upon it.

Fourteen cases of murder were dealt with last year, which included three which occurred over four years before.

During the eleven months of 1908-1909, 5,849 cases were entered, as against 6,377 during the previous twelve months. The report says there is a decided increase in offences against women. The crop of horse thieves does not fail, including 44 convictions. Praise is given to Sgt. Ensor for his good work in running down offenders. Excessive drinking was responsible for 1,551 convictions. Thirteen thousand three hundred and twenty-six prisoners were taken into custody the last ten years.

Assassination of Manuel is Plotted

Lisbon.—In connection with the firing upon bystanders of a group of men who were prowling around the Necessidades' palace recently and the arrest of a number of Republicans, the police announced that they have discovered a widespread revolutionary conspiracy.

Additional arrests have been made of the men supposed to be the ringleaders, and the police have seized large quantities of explosives, arms and complete disguises. Several of these in the hands of the authorities have confessed that they and members of secret societies had banded together in a plot to overturn the government.

Their exact plans have not been revealed, but the Lisbon newspapers declare that these included the assassination of King Manuel.

The plot was unearthed as a sequence of the murder at Casacaes, not far from Lisbon, of one of the revolutionists who was slain by his fellows on the ground of treachery.

Hailah Site of the Garden of Eden

New York.—A cable dispatch from Constantinople says that according to the Journal de Stamboul, Sir William Wilcocks, the British advisor to the minister of public works, thinks he has determined the exact site of the Garden of Eden. He places it at Hailah, a flourishing oasis some 250 kilometres northwest of Bagdad. Through this site the Euphrates runs, and is divided into four arms representing the four rivers of Eden. Sir William suggests that the deluge was merely the flooding of the entire plain between the Euphrates and the Tigris, owing to these rivers breaking down the irrigation dykes which had been built by the pastoral dwellers on the plain.

Sword is Power

Berlin.—A remarkable naval address, which is described by the North German Gazette as a crowning effort, was delivered by Dr. Schmidt at the annual festival of the German Students union. Dr. Schmidt said in part: "Large divisions of our people do not know what our army and fleet are and what we gain by them. A generation of peace has deprived us of actual knowledge of them. It is our duty to revive this knowledge. We thank the kaiser for providing us with such a magnificent navy. The studious youth who does not fulfil the task of being German, Christian and soldier is contemptible. The German sword is Germany's power and the army and navy are worth our cheers."

Counting on Building War Craft

Victoria, B.C.—Arrangements have been practically completed by the British Columbia Maritime company for ample financial aid from British capitalists for increases proposed to the plant of the Esquimalt shipyard in anticipation of the construction of the proposed Canadian cruisers and destroyers for the Canadian navy. The Navy bill will provide a differential in favor of Canadian builders of 33 1/2 per cent, over other shipbuilders, and the local company expects to secure the construction of some of the four cruisers of the Bristol class, ten of the Brodie class and six destroyers which are to form Canada's new navy divided on the Atlantic and the Pacific.

King Menelik is Dead Again

Rome.—The Observer Roma prints a despatch from Harrara, Southern Abyssinia, saying it is reported that King Menelik died Dec. 23, and that the news was concealed to avoid internal troubles.

C. N. R. PLANS IN ALBERTA

Seven-Branch Line Will Radiate From Edmonton—Surveyors Active in Northwest

Edmonton.—Presumably running a preliminary survey for the extension of the Canadian Northern railway into the Grande Prairie country via Fort Assiniboine, a party of C. N. R. surveyors has been active northwest of St. Albert during the past few weeks, according to reports which have been brought to the city this week by farmers from that district.

It has been announced that the railway company will undertake the construction of a portion of this road into the Grand Prairie this summer. The bonds of the branch have been guaranteed by the provincial government.

Plans for extensions of the Canadian Northern railway west, north and south of the city will be discussed at a conference between Messrs. W. L. Mackenzie and D. D. Mann and their general manager, M. H. McLeod, who is in Edmonton. The railway company has bonds guaranteed for several branch lines from the city and construction will be carried forward on some of them next summer. According to the statement of Mr. McLeod seven C. N. R. lines will radiate from the city, these will include the branch into the Peace River country and the branch south to Calgary, a portion of which is constructed. The company is preparing to carry on construction of the main line west of Edmonton in the spring and a new supply camp is being opened up at Stonev Plain, twenty miles west of the city.

The provincial government has arranged to maintain a publicity office at the Union depot in Toronto as one feature of the publicity campaign in which they will probably expend $25,000 in an effort to bring the population of the province up to 400,000 in order to secure an increased subsidy from the Dominion government.

Good Advice to English Emigrants

London.—At a recent session of the annual conference of the head masters of English public schools which is being held in this city, a resolution was introduced welcoming the establishment of a public school league for imperial settlement. The resolution goes on to say that the league is welcomed because it purposes to offer English youths careers in overseas dominions of the empire.

Rev. Branstor Grey, head master of Bradford College, Berks, in speaking to a resolution, said that owing to the lack of organization, some of England's worst boys had gone out and made the name of Englishmen one of rather ill omen in Canada.

A letter was read from Lord Roberts in which he cordially commended the scheme. He said among other things, that while in Canada in 1908, he was surprised to find that there were young Englishmen in that country who were not always viewed with unalloyed satisfaction. There were grand careers open for Englishmen in Canada, Lord Roberts said, but it must be remembered that Canadians would not tolerate airs of arrogance.

Laurier's Speech Pleases Britain

London.—The Times says that the lively sense of imperial responsibility which Laurier displayed in his recent speech at Toronto gave deep satisfaction to thousands of good citizens at home. This satisfaction, says the Times, will be doubled by the language used by R. L. Borden in parliament recently. The knowledge and breadth of judgment with which Mr. Borden treated the subject of the navy was worthy of one of the leading statesmen of the greatest daughter of the nation. The Times praises the generous patriotism which glows in passage after passage of the speech.

Closer Union on The Trade Lines

Kingston, Jamaica.—The chamber of commerce welcomes any proposition for closer union of the Empire but says it must be recognized that Canada can furnish an outlet for only a portion of the island's products. The chamber is unprepared to recommend that any preference be given Canada unless Canada will take the responsibility of arranging that Jamaica shall retain the advantageous position she now holds regarding the markets, especially in the United States.

Naturalization Rejected

London.—A despatch from Shanghai says that China has rejected the plan advanced by Secretary of State Knox, of the United States, for the neutralization of the Manchurian railroads. Lu Tung, senior president of the Wai Wu Pu, the Chinese foreign board, states that the plan will not be accepted at Pekin. The declaration is made in a formal note to the ministers representing Japan and Russia.

To Increase Alberta's Population

Toronto.—The provincial government has arranged to maintain a publicity office at the Union depot in Toronto as one feature of the publicity campaign, in which it will probably expend $25,000 in an effort to bring the population of the province up to 400,000, in order to secure the increased subsidy from the Dominion government.

Will Try for North Pole in Balloon

Berlin.—An expedition is fitting out to proceed to cross the Bay of Spitzbergen early in the spring, to arrange for the starting place of the German Arctic exploring party which later in the year will try to reach the North Pole in a dirigible balloon. Prince Henry is superintending the arrangements.

WILL RETAIN CONTROL

EVERY INDICATION THAT GOVERNMENT WILL BE RETURNED

Result of First Balloting Does Not Place Either Party in a Commanding Position—Liberals will Remain in Power, but with a Greatly Reduced Majority—Unionists Have Gained a Number of Seats.

London.—The first engagement in the fight for tariff reform, a great navy, and the supremacy of the Lords as against free trade, reform of the House of Lords and home rule, ended with neither party in a commanding position. The results of the polling tends to confirm the forecast that the Liberals will retain control of the government, but with a greatly reduced majority.

The Unionists have gained an encouraging number of seats, although less than 25, which they expected to take away, from the Liberals out of the 74 balloted for.

The popular vote goes strongly against the Liberals. The members of that party who hold seats, won them by majorities ranging from 50 to 60 per cent, below their majorities in special conditions figured in the campaign. The popular votes polled by the Liberals for the twelve London seats, shows a stronger hold on power than in the provinces. The majority of the London boroughs were labor districts. Of these the Unionists carried five, three being captured from the Liberal column, but by small margins.

Manchester and Birmingham gave Unionist gains, Birmingham has been strongly Conservative, largely the result of Joseph Chamberlain's crusade for protection, and the Unionists carried the city solidly by increased majorities, nearly 80 per cent, larger than in 1906. In Manchester the Unionists increased their votes for while the Liberals still have five of the six seats, the Liberal majorities were decreased nearly 9,000. The most sweeping change in London, was in Fulham borough, where the middle class population went enthusiastically for tariff reform, giving W. Hayes Fisher, the Unionist candidate, a majority of two thousand. In this borough in the last election, the majority went to the Liberals by 600. Devonport, where the big navy issue was predominant, swung out the Liberal majority of 1,300, and returned two Unionists by 500. Sir J. Jackson and Sir Kinnoch. Sir Henry Norman, the Liberal journalist recently appointed assistant at Wolverhampton South, by a small majority. In order to retain his place in the cabinet, he will be nominated from another borough.

Although both sides preserve an air of confidence, it was evident that the Conservatives have at least abandoned hope that their party will form the next government. The utmost they dare expect is that the Liberal majority will be so reduced in the next parliament as to place the Liberals at the mercy of the Nationalists.

Mr. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the house of commons, in a speech some days ago, said that the great political issues now in question would not be settled by one general election, and perhaps not by two. Clearly the ex-premier accurately measured the situation and the hopes of tariff reformers must now be centred upon some future general election.

An estimate made by a well-informed Unionist based on Saturday's pollings, gives the Liberals and Laborites, a clear majority of ninety or a hundred over all parties, which would provide the Liberal government with a good working majority. Many of the Unionists, however, do not believe the Liberals will finish the election with so good a record as this.

Dealing With Fruit Trade in West

St. Catharines, Ont.—The Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' association, at their annual meeting here recently, took up the subject of the fruit supply overlapping in the Canadian west, and a committee was formed to formulate a plan whereby there shall be a more uniform distribution of Niagara fruit there.

Robert Thompson brought in a resolution, which was passed, urging the railway commission to make a uniform freight rate for the carrying of fruit to the various cities of the west.

"As things exist now," said he, "it is out of all proportion. For instance: Winnipeg's rate is sixty cents, while to Regina, only a short distance further west, the rate is $1.04. If the rate for carrying fruit to the west is made uniform, it will have the effect of making prices to the consumer uniform all through the west."

York Loan Checks

Toronto.—The National Trust Co., liquidators of the York Loan will send out 700 to 1,000 cheques on April 1, to those shareholders whose books were sent in in time for the payment of the first dividend of 25 per cent, on November last. There are still 9,000 books not returned.

Good Enough for Pall Mall

London.—Pall Mall Gazette, referring to Canada's proposal to provide five cruisers and six destroyers, does not agree with Mr. R. L. Borden that the contribution would be too much for an experiment.

Hudson's Bay Directorate

London.—It is rumored that changes will shortly be made in the Hudson's Bay directorate, London interests being likely to secure a footing.
